

Find out everything about SERMI certification in 4 steps

From 1 April 2024 working on components and software related to vehicle security may only be carried out under certificate. Certification via the SERMI directive can be done quickly and easily through the Kiwa webshop. Discover in this infographic how you can prepare in advance.

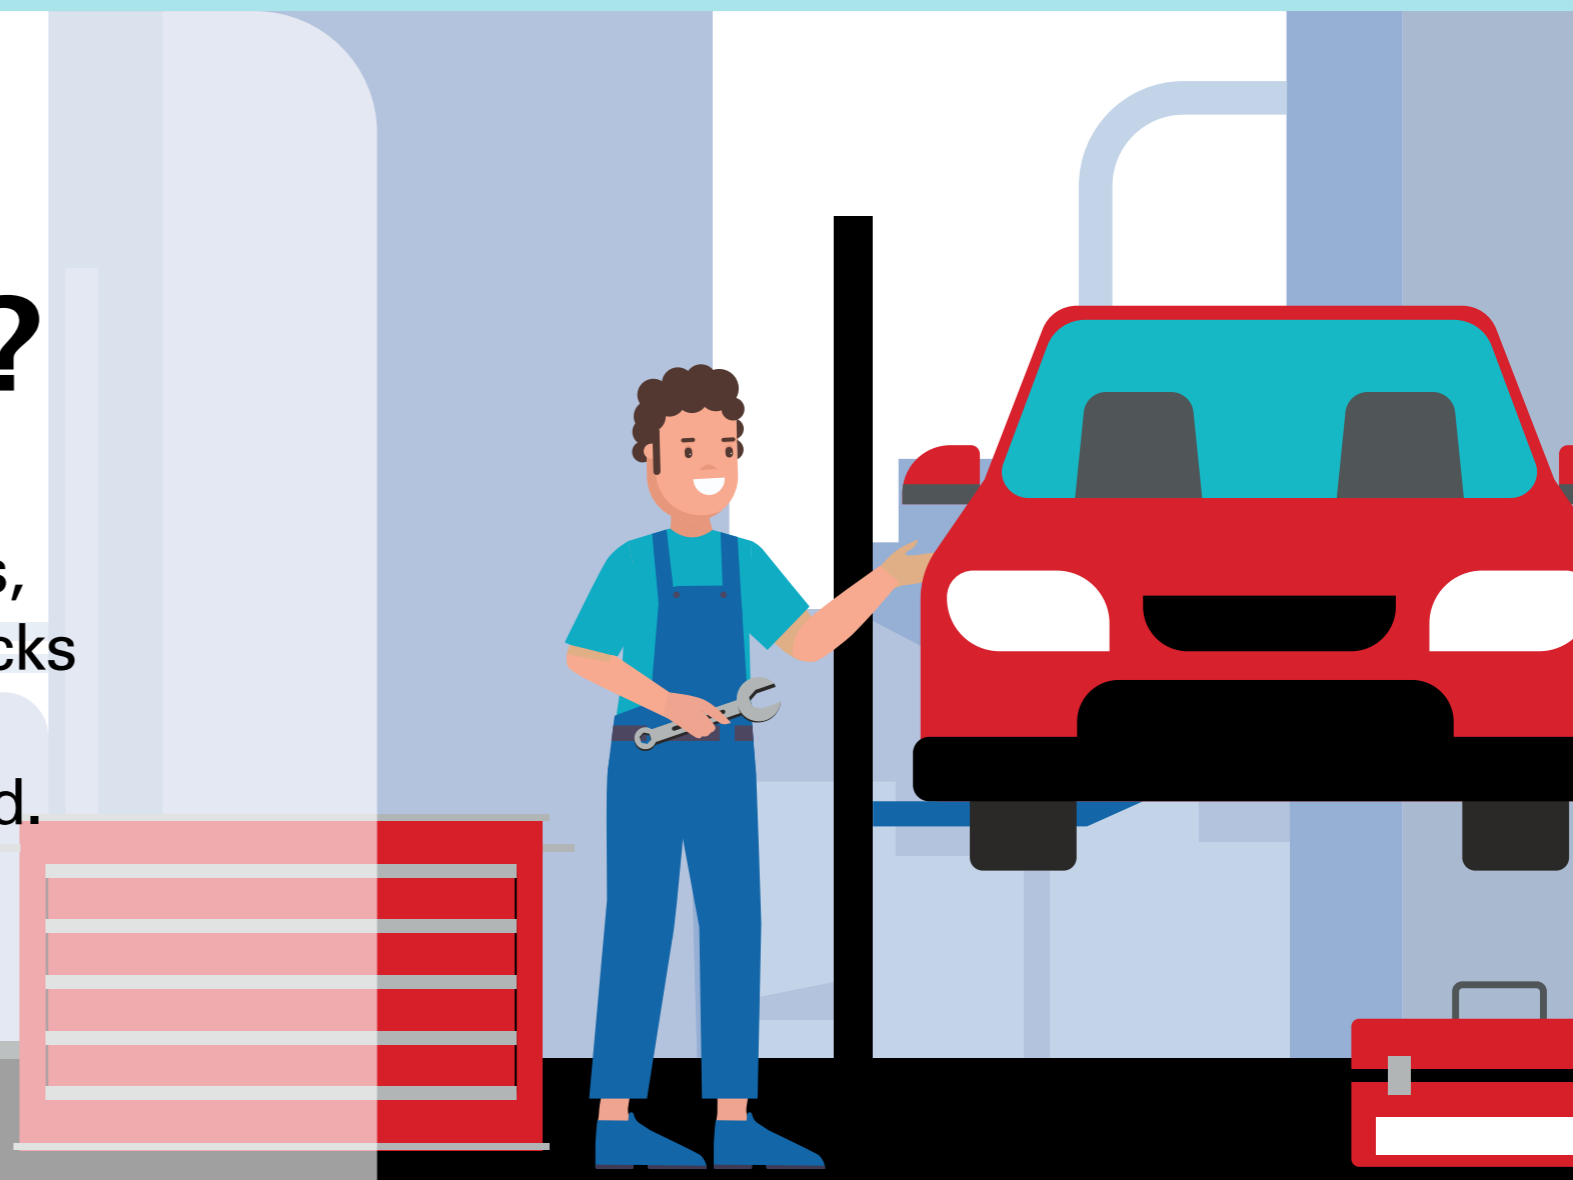

What is SERMI?

The SERMI certificate is named after the European alliance of manufacturers and independent car companies. SERMI certification gives you direct access to the data from the car manufacturer and you no longer need to submit a separate application for each brand.

Who should certify?

If you or your mechanics work on security-related components of vehicles, such as keys, ignition switches, door locks and the ECU, the mechanics and your company will have to be SERMI certified.

What are the benefits?

Kiwa has been your committed vehicle security certification body for many years. As one of the first companies in Europe, we are an accredited inspection body for SERMI. Certification makes working on vehicle security:

Simpler

You can log in to all manufacturers with a single login (Digidentity) to access security-related information;

More economical

Direct access to information from different vehicle manufacturers in once instead of for each brand separately;

Faster

You no longer need to submit a separate application to the manufacturer for each brand. Moreover, the procedure to get SERMI certification is shorter than the access procedures at the manufacturers;

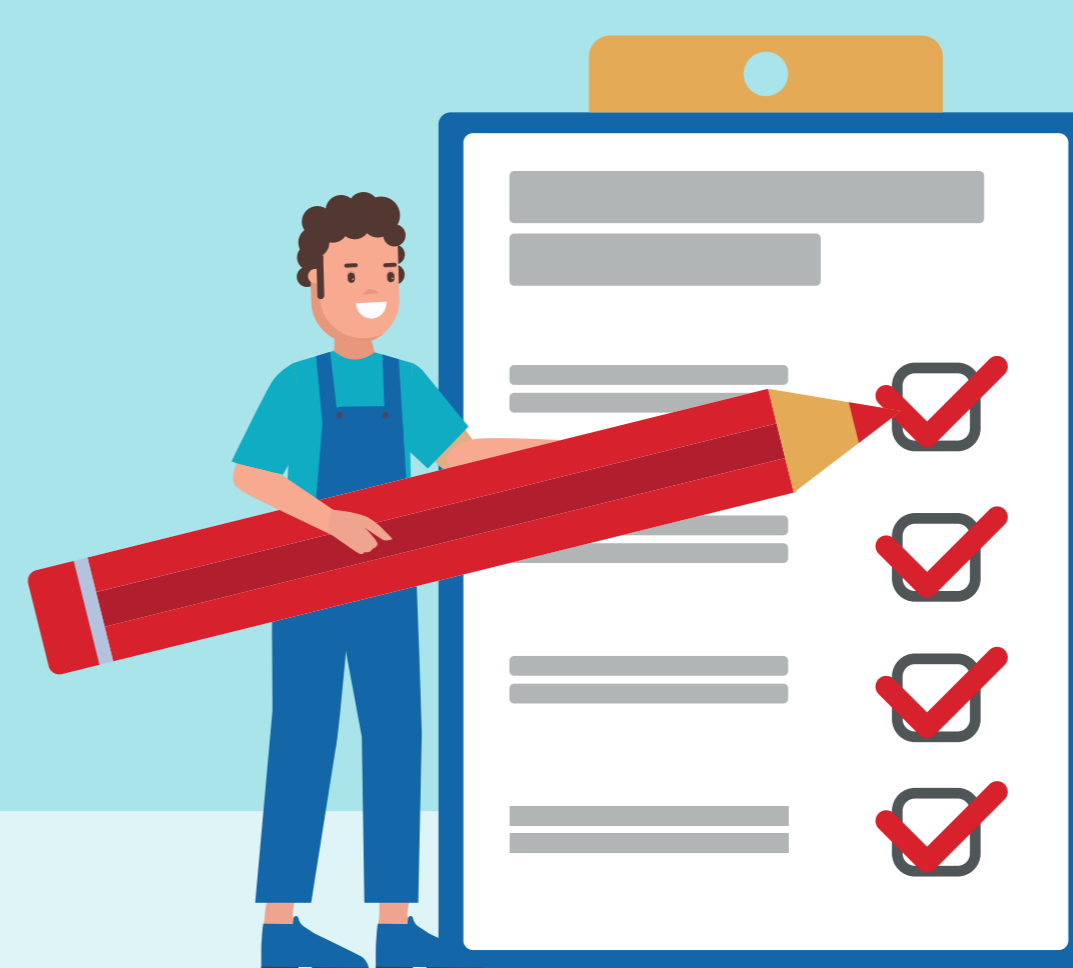

Carefree

You are certified for a period of 5 years. During these 5 years, Kiwa will do one audit at your premises to see whether you still meet the SERMI requirements.

What do I have to comply with?

For both the application of a certificate for a company as well as for an employee, you should submit a number of documents, declarations and data in our portal. See below what you can prepare*:

- Provide a unique email address and mobile phone number of every employee to be SERMI certified;

- Upload a Certificate of Good Conduct for Legal Entities issued less than 6 months ago.
