Regulatory Alert

South Africa EMC/EMI Certification Service to be in-place soon

In May 2015, the South African Bureau of Standards (SABS) placed all EMC/EMI Approval applications on hold due to a SABS internal preliminary investigation on non-compliance to processes and procedures.

Following the discussion in June 2015 on SABS passing the responsibility of this certification back to ICASA. (The Independent Communications Authority of South Africa), ICASA have confirmed on 26 January 2016, that the agreement between ICASA and the SABS will be in approval process this week, further approval procedure details to be provided in February 2016.

PCS will continue to monitor the situation, and keep customers updated.
